

Statement on transitional arrangements for histopathology trainees applying to transfer to the 2010 GMC-approved histopathology curriculum and assessment system

Following the publication of the histopathology transitional arrangements in 2010, the Royal College of Pathologists has transferred over 175 trainees to the 2010 histopathology curriculum. There are no trainees on previous versions of the curriculum and therefore these curricula will no longer be used. The 2010 curriculum has now been updated and submitted to the GMC. Once approval has been given all trainees, with the exception of those in their final year of training, will be moved to the new curriculum. However this will be a more seamless process because the change to the curriculum are minor changes.
